Hoopsters Win Finale; Track Season Opens

SPARTANS EARN TRIP TO K. C.

In one of the tightest games ever played on the Spartan court, the San Jose State college cagers defeated the Pepperdine Waves, 66-55, last night.

The Waves rolled within four points of a chance to represent the California district at the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball Kansas City tournament, but a furious, fast-breaking attack by the Spartans in the last three minutes put the local quintet on Saturday's eastbound plane.

Coach Walt McPherson's cagers took an early lead and held a slight advantage throughout the first half, the Waves being hampered by bad passing and a slight case of nerves. Both teams were on edge, but it was the Gold and White that remained coolest under fire.

Setshots by Bill Lindquist and Jerry Lowther, the latter high point man for the evening with 23 tallies, kept the visitors within four points of the Spartans as the half ended 31-27.

Taking advantage of Spartan miscues, the Waves went ahead, 32-31, after 1 minute and 45 seconds of the second half had elapsed, but lost the upper hand 10 seconds later when Chuck Hughes tallied a pair for the home team.

Stu Inman followed this with a bucket, Bob Enzensperger made a free throw count, and the score was 36-32. Pepperdine was no closer than four points after that.

Inman was high man for the Spartans with 22, one less than Lowther. Bob Hagen, playing a sensational game at forward, tossed in 18 points, and Hughes' total for the evening was 11. The man of the hour, however, was Bob Wuesthoff, who couldn't even buy a bucket in the first half but scored nine much-needed digits during the last 15 minutes of play.

It was the left-handed Lowther and Bill Lindquist who scored 39 of the visitors' points that stole the show. Their uncanny accuracy contributed heavily to the fact that their team made 41 per cent of their shots from the field, while

SJS Symphony Gives Concert

The San Jose State college Symphony orchestra will give its first concert of the quarter under the direction of Dr. Lyle Downey, Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Morris Dailey auditorium, the Music department announces.

Gibson Walters of the San Jose State college Music faculty will appear as soloist when the orchestra plays "Saint Nicholas Treasure Ship" by Maurits Kesenar.

The program will include compositions by Berlioz, Sibelius, Lalo, Chadwick, and Kesenar. Chadwick and Kesenar are American composers.

The performance is open to the public.

SIX INTRAMURAL SQUADS COMPETE

Six San Jose State college track teams will vie in the annual Interclass Track meet at Spartan Stadium today at 3:30 in what promises to be the best meet in years. There will be two divisions, the varsity and the novice. The meet previously was set for two days but is now limited to today only.

With at least 70 entries, the six team captains have many potential track stars on their squads. The entrants were picked from not only the varsity and freshman track squads, but each captain had an opportunity to recruit prospective track talent from the entire student body.

The team captains are: Tom Birmingham, Thelno Knowles, Bob Likens, Woody Linn, Connie Kazarinoff, and Merle Knox. Each squad will have campus organization backing.

Organizations which are backing teams include: Silver Sabers and Allenians, Woody Linn; Mu Delta Pi, Likens; Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Theta, Kazarinoff (Varneck); Gamma Phi Beta, Birmingham; Sigma Kappas, Knox; and Delta Sigma Gamma, Knowles.

Gamma Beta Chi is going to award ribbons to the winners, and members of Phi Epsilon Kappa, honor physical education frat, will officiate at the meet.

Coach Bud Winter commented that he expected a good crowd at the stadium this afternoon. "We expect that the whole school will turn out," declared the track mentor enthusiastically. "In the line-up there will be several unknown

Chao To Speak To CCF Today

Dr. Calvin Chao, general secretary of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship in China, will speak at the CCF meeting at 12:30 today in room 116, reports CCF President Bob Baylis.

This well known Chinese educator has had many years of experience in the counselling of Chinese students. He has just returned from an Eastern speaking tour during where he met at Harvard with delegates of the International Fellowship of Evangelical students.

JUNIORS SET INSTALLATION

Junior class officers will be installed tonight at the Luoca Cafe in Santa Clara at a dinner attended by Junior Council members and their guests. Ceremonies will begin at 6, announces Jeff Brewster, chairman.

"A sign-up sheet is available in the Dean of Men's office for those who wish to go," said Miss Brewster.

"I Swear No Man Shall Injure Me..."

"I swear no man shall injure me and not regret it," warns Dorothy Lyon as Medea. John Calderwood portrays the accused husband, Jason. Euripides' famous tragedy opens tonight in the college Little Theater at 8:15.

EURIPIDES' TRAGEDY, "MEDEA," WILL OPEN TONIGHT AT 8:15

"Medea" opens tonight in the Little Theater at 8:15, as the first major Greek play to be produced at the college.

Director Dr. James Clancy's version of "Medea" is his own adaptation of the play based on literal translations of the original Greek. Clancy says, "Euripides is produced more often than other Greek playwrights because Euripides' plays have a definite psychological approach and the characters seem more human."

The title role of the barbarian princess will be played by Dorothy Lyon, who appears in her first major role. Veteran student actor John Calderwood portrays Medea's husband, Jason. Roxanna Hildreth plays the nurse who tries to ease Medea's torments. Kreon, King of Corinth, is played by James Forster.

Other members of the cast include: Donald Smith, Ivan Van Perre, Marian Jacobson, Stella Pinoris, Letitia Kendall, Conrad Smith, Robert Barmettler, Reed Higgins, Jackson Young, Donald Lev, Thomas Dean, Donald Holladay, Harold Upson, John Hayden, Joan Beuchner, Barbara Vaccaro, William Furnell, and Franklin and Richard Willis.

The play depicts the barbarian princess, Medea, going through violent stages of jealousy after having been deserted by her husband. The story presents Medea's plans, and the execution of these plans, to hurt her husband in every conceivable way.

Speech Instructor Wendell Johnson has designed the setting for "Medea" as a huge stark mass of crumbling masonry. In it is carved a cave-like house with a grand series of steps leading to an impressive portal.

"Medea" will run tonight through Monday. Tickets may be purchased in the Speech office, room 57, for 60 cents with student body cards, reports the Drama department.

This information was released officially by Jocelyn Capp, senior justice. Bill Logan, chief justice, was absent because of illness.

A total of 1306 students turned out in the election.

Bill McFarland was elected to the senior vice-presidency on a white ballot. The position of senior class secretary fell to Ethel Dodge.

A run-off election is necessary in the case of senior class treasurer. Vying for the office Friday will be Adele Bertolotti and Joyce Woods.

JUNIORS' PRESIDENT

New president of the junior class is Robert E. "Bob" Keller, who ran unopposed for the office. In the vice-president's slot will be Edwin Robert "Bob" Sampson, who was the only aspirant.

Easily attaining the position of junior class secretary was Winona Lyon. Hers was the only name placed on the ballot for that office.

Jean Kinney captured the post of treasurer of the junior class.

TAKES JUSTICE POST

Filling the woman's junior justice seat on the Student Court will be Winifred "Winnie" Helm. The two men racing for the remaining junior justice position will be Richard Brown and Tom Case.

Still undecided is the presidency of the sophomore class. Vern Baker and Dick Cirigliano will vie for the office in the run-off Friday.

Hanging in the balance of Friday's election will be the office of sophomore class vice-president with Joe Ashworth and Don Gifford seeking the position.

Ramona "Monie" Hicks captured the secretarial post of the sophomore class. Clare McMurry will serve in the capacity of sophomore treasurer. She was unopposed in the election.

FROSH PRESIDENT

Arthur L. "Art" Butler will hold the president's gavel for the freshmen. Nancy Etherton won the vice-presidency.

Sally Moody, running unopposed for the office of freshman secretary, was elected.

Guarding the treasury for the freshman class will be Constance "Connie" Young, who came out on top at the primary election.

Roy de Soto and Robert Madsen will represent the freshmen on the Student Council following their election to office last night.

Members of the Student Court and Student Council co-operated in counting the votes. Miss Capp

Ring Reform Needed

The 21st American boxing fatality in two years occurred in Los Angeles this weekend. It was the second such ring accident in the past two weekends.

In the death of the first fighter, he was previously injured in Cleveland prior to his fatal fight in Chicago. He was allowed to take a terrific beating for 10 rounds although he was only 20 years old at the time. Had the Illinois law been followed to the letter, he would have been only allowed to box six rounds.

In the case of the death in Los Angeles, the victim died of a heart attack in his first professional bout. We feel that this death could have been avoided had the examining doctors used modern methods in their physical checkups.

Safety for the fighter and protecting against mismatches for the spectator may be the answer. Protective devices such as the headgear now used here at San Jose State college and the establishment of the point rating system now used by the Pacific Coast intercollegiate boxing authorities should be installed.

We also suggest that boxing like baseball should have a boss to enforce its decisions and to help prevent these accidental deaths.

Unless some ring reform is made, voluntarily by the boxing authorities, the public will do it for them by staying away from the fights.

High School Competition?

This comes from the San Jose High School Herald in a clever feature about Santa Cruz and Spring vacation, quote, Have you stopped to consider the cabin shortage, with State (that's us) there the same week we are? Oh, well, they pile up five deep in a bed anyway, unquote.

A scientific survey to determine extra-curricular student needs at the University of California is scheduled for completion this Spring.

Designed to provide information for use in future University development programs, the survey will entail the interviewing of ten per cent of the student body. In short, students will be asked, "Are you getting what you want out of your extra-curricular life, on and off campus?"

The survey is thought to be unique in the field of university planning. Sponsored by the ASUC, the poll will be conducted by California Student Needs surveys under the direction of G. Hamilton Crook, clinical and consulting psychologist of San Francisco.

Dailys Mailed All Over Country

Approximately 75 Spartan Dailys are mailed each day to subscribers, national advertisers, local merchants, San Jose newspapers, and as exchanges, according to Marie Somky, circulation manager.

Ten of the papers are sent to alumni who wish to keep abreast of the latest news from Sparta. In this category is Marty Taylor, former student body president, who is working on Wake Island. Another is Midshipman P. A. Phelps whose address is the U. S. Naval Academy. The other ex-Spartans reside in this state.

Exchanges are sent to 24 colleges, junior colleges, and high schools in California. Others go to colleges in Washington, Hawaii, Pennsylvania, Idaho, Texas, Wisconsin, Florida, Arizona, and Michigan.

Six to ten copies are sent to the National Advertising Service in New York whenever national advertising appears in the campus paper. Additional copies are sent to local and national firms who advertise in the paper.

Mrs. Charlotte Rideout and Miss Bobbie Gardner have instituted a novel system of air conditioning for the English office in room H28. It consists simply of opening or closing the closet door. The closet doesn't have a ceiling and cold air coming through

Dr. Hazeltine Owns Volcano

Don't look now, but Dr. Karl S. Hazeltine of the Natural Science department has a miniature volcano in his laboratory—complete with eruption, flames, and molten lava. It lacks only sound effects.

The portable Vesuvius or Paricutin is carefully molded clay attached to a board. The "eruption" comes about when Ammonium Dichromate (resembling orange-colored sand) is poured into the crater and ignited.

The result is similar to that of an actual volcano, only on a SLIGHTLY smaller scale. Flames shoot into the air, the "earth" shakes as the "lava" pours from the crater, and "volcanic" ash covers the nearby areas. It is more realistic than a De Mille movie spectacle.

Dr. Hazeltine "operates" his pocket-size volcano with the consummate skill of a Houdini. A handful of clay, a little Ammonium Dichromate, a match—then presto, the professor has a volcano—all in the comfort of his own laboratory.

the tower located in the northern end of the Home Economics building is constantly swirling through.

On the warmest days the English office is kept cool by opening the closet door for a few minutes. If the day is cold the door is kept closed and the steam radiator warms the room quickly.

Debaters Use Audience Decision To Judge Speaker's Success

By PAT O'BRIEN

Dewitt Portal's boxing scoreboard is not the only system of judging being tested on campus. The debate squad is experimenting with a different system of judging its debates—an audience type decision.

This new kind of ballot used in San Jose State college's home debates this year has received considerable praise and enthusiastic approval from the Stanford and College of the Pacific teams with whom it has been tried.

The ballot attempts to measure whether there has been a shift of opinion, as a result of the debate. Before the debate begins, a preliminary ballot is taken to determine whether the members of the audience are in favor or opposed to the acceptance of the proposition. After the debate each person marks his ballot by choosing one of five criteria which express possible attitudes.

The choices are: (1) my opinion has changed from NO to YES. (2) my opinion has changed from YES to NO. (3) there has been no change in my opinion. (4) my opinion has been influenced from NO toward YES, although my basic decision remains the same. (5) my opinion has been influenced from YES toward NO, although my basic decision remains the same.

LUICK DESIGN

The ballot was arranged by Wilbur F. Luick, speech instructor in charge of the forensic program, in an attempt to improve the realism of collegiate debating.

Several of the reasons why the audience-decision system is meeting with success might be found in the fact that debaters like to appear before real audiences. Too, the audience feels that it has a part in making the decision. And debaters and audience alike are aware of the fact that seldom is a proposition settled wholly one way or the other.

In the system one team may get an advantage in the total analysis, but the other team gets the satisfaction that it too influenced opinion.

Mr. Luick intends to continue experimenting with the audience-ballot, as long as it seems to satisfy debaters and audience. The debate coach says "In our American democracy most of the policies and problems and differences are settled through conference and compromise."

Campus Douses Night Lamps

San Jose State college is co-operating with stringent "brown-out" regulations designed to save electricity, according to Comptroller E. S. Thompson. The statewide rule went into effect midnight Thursday.

"The campus is completely blacked out at night except for the Library," said Mr. Thompson. "Lights in all rooms, offices, and laboratories are turned off except when in use."

"Spartan Trailer Court and Spartan Village are keeping off unused lights and as yet no hard and fast rules have been enforced there."

Objective of the regulations is to save ten per-cent in power consumption and to conserve water at hydro-electric plants. Storage at the plants now is only 46.1 per cent of normal and snowpacks are light.

Throughout California neon lights still drenched most streets with lights and advertising billboards blazed although many cities already had begun turning off a number of street lights, according to the United Press.

The loss to grain and cereal crops alone was placed at $24,000,000 in Fresno. Only .63 of rain has fallen there in the past 77 days.

McCallum Goes For Coffee

Dr. G. A. McCallum of the Natural Science department is very happy these days.

Saturday night, during the Junior Prom, our biology professor was presented a Ronson cigarette lighter, affectionately inscribed "Doc," by the Junior Council.

Yesterday, on his regular 11:45 a.m. jaunt to the Coop for coffee, the good doctor was swamped by students yelling, "How about a light, Doc?" He obligingly made the rounds, lighting every cigarette or reasonable facsimile.

A half-hour later, his right thumb sore from operating the little device, "Doc" trudged wearily back across the lawns to the Science building—minus his coffee.

By the time he had finished lighting all the cigarettes, and had miraculously found a vacant stool, it was time to return to his chores. The poor "Doc."

Delta Beta Sigma, Beta Chi Sigma...

Shirley "Duke" Tallman says Hillsdale Country Club rocked Friday night when the Deltas and the Beta Chi Sigmas joined forces in a lively dancing session.

Refreshments and mixer dances to records provided enjoyment for the evening, which was climaxed by a fireside song fest with the Beta quartet rendering several "Mills Brothers specials."

Spartan Spears is honor service organization for sophomore women.

12-Word Will Disputed

BOSTON (UP)—A 12-word will, scrawled on the back of an undertaker's business card, is the subject of a legal battle here. "When I go I want Harriet Wells to have everything I have," read the will of Mrs. Mahala Austin of Roxbury. Mrs. Lucy Davis, a cousin of Mrs. Austin, challenges the validity of the will.

Portal's Boxers Ready To Battle Five CCAA Teams In Tourney Tomorrow Night

By BARNEY BARNETT

Tapering off the week's training today, Dee Portal's varsity boxers get set for the opening bell of the CCAA tournament tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Men's Gym. Finals will begin Saturday night at 8.

A total of 23 leather tossers are entered in the All-Conference classic and every school in the league, with the exception of San Diego, will be represented.

CAL POLY

Cal Poly, still chafing under the football and basketball drubbings received at the hands of the Spartans, has entered a full team in the hope of reaping ring revenge against the Gold and White. The Santa Barbara Gauchos are also sending a strong delegation, including two CCAA champions Wes Cormier at 135 lbs. and Sam Cathcart at 155 lbs. Visiting Tigers from the College of the Pacific include Pete Avilar at 135, Bob Turner at 155 and Nom Hong at 165.

BOXERS

Don Putnam, Bulldog 135 pounder, will be upholding the boxing honor of Fresno State singlehanded as he is the only mittman Raisin Tech could muster.

Roddy Rod Richardson, the hammering heavyweight, has been picked to hold down the unlimited spot for the Spartans.

Razor Raul Diez, a consistently good 165 lb. battler will be Sparta's hope in that division. In his last outing, Diez pounded out a win over his Cal Aggie opponent.

Pickaxe Pete Franasich, San Jose 175 lb. first stringer, will be fighting for light-heavyweight honors. He won and lost for a .500 average during the northern trip.

Seven bouts have been slated for tomorrow's semi-final round and eight matches have been scheduled for Saturday. Some $244 flistic fans are expected to jam the gym for the two nights.

San Jose Swimmers Meet St. Mary's

By JOHN GOTHBERG

San Jose State's mermen will be out to gain their first triumph tonight when they meet St. Mary's at 8 p.m. in the Spartan pool.

The Gold and White splashers dropped their first two meets to the strong California and Stanford teams. Last year the locals dumped the Gaels in both meets; however the Moragans are expected to be much stronger this season.

Pat McConnell, undefeated in the diving event this year, is expected to put on another first class performance this evening. Bob Edminster will also participate for San Jose in this event.

Coach Charley Walker is almost certain of another first in the 220-yard breast stroke. He has two very good men to swim for State in this race, Ed Rudloff and Pete Wolff.

Jack Daly, Ray Bennett, and Tudor Bogart will represent the Gold and White in the 50 and 100-yard sprints. Daly has been improving his time in the 100 and should win the blue ribbon this time.

In the grueling back stroke event, Coach Walker will depend upon Wally Hofman and Frank Peters to out distance the Gaels. Dave Moore is San Jose's speedster in the distances. Moore beat out Cal's Steiner in the 440 here last week.

Tomorrow the freshmen nators will travel to Berkeley where they meet the Cal Cubs. Donald Ling, Tom Daly, Earl Guiness, Lee Jensen, Howard Bogie, and Jack Jensen are some of the outstanding men on the San Jose frosh team.

Spartan Thinclads Vie Today In Interclass Track Meet At Stadium

stars who have the ability to become champions in the future."

Favored by good weather this afternoon, the Spartan trackmen expect good performances. During the past three weeks they have turned in good times at practices.

Events which begin today are the following track events:

75, 160, 352, 660, 1320, mile, half mile, 70 high hurdles, 180 low hurdles, and the 880 yard relay. Field events include: high jump, pole vault, shot put, discus, javelin, broad jump, hot step and jump.

Three teams will be vying for top honors. They include the favored Kikens squad, Linn and Varneck. Birmingham, Knowles and Knox intend to surprise the favorites in today's tussle.

Featured field event for today is the discus. The discus hurlers include Ray Overhouse, Woody Linn, Grant Denmark and Ray Overhouse. The 1320 yard distance is the featured race. The top three are Thelmo Knowles, Gene Haynes, Merle Knox and Tanner.

A nip and tuck affair is set for the high hurdles with the Passey brothers, Jack and Bill, sharing honors with Birmingham and Roger Smythe. Likens is favored to cap the javelin event but the race for second and third place is wide open. Linn and Junior Morgan should put up a stiff fight for that spot; however they will be pushed by Ehrman.

Look for a good race in the 75 yard sprints. Don Smalley, Bob Bingham, Steve O'Meara, and Dick Kauffmann are primed for the event. Knowles is expected to be the only double winner during the afternoon. He'll probably win in the 660 and 1320 yard distances.

A new event will be added to the regular track events. This is the hop step and jump affair. Connie Kazarinoff is expected to grab a first place. He also is favored in the high jump, although Junior Morgan may give him a tough battle for top honors in that event.

Frosh Nine Beat Sequoia By 6-4 Score

The frosh baseball team successfully opened their 1948 season, defeating Sequoia high at Palo Alto Tuesday, 6 to 4.

Coach Durand used four pitchers, Pete Mesa, Cliff Craig, Steve Kozich, and Bob Carroll, all of whom performed creditably.

Mesa lead the Spartlets at the plate with two for two. Bill Kogelschotz had two hits in three appearances.

The Freshmen will travel to Salinas Friday where they will play Salinas JC.

The Illinois Legislature first passed an act on division fences in 1819.

DR. HERMANN'S GIVES HIS OPINIONS ON EURIPIDES' TRAGEDY, "MEDEA"

Dr. William Hermanns, assistant professor of modern languages, expressed the following concerning the college's production of Euripides' tragedy, "Medea":

As always for our theater performances in the college, a generous hand has given a small fund, so that students who are short of money or whose government check has not arrived can avail themselves of a ticket for the great tragedy, "Medea."

Yesterday, a student came to my office (B61) to ask for ticket money. He muttered his regrets, however, that he would have preferred a technicolor movie to "Medea"—"to lift one up, which old Greek stuff like "Medea" could not," remarked the student.

Although the proverb that one cannot argue about tastes is as old as the Latin language, let us reason! The plot in a movie is written for entertainment; the plot of a great drama for education. While a movie story is manufactured by many minds, the great drama is written by one.

The passions, the strife, the heart-breaking pathos, the lyrics revealed in "Medea" show that the author is an ageless educator. Euripides forces men (even those who want to escape from their own problems by viewing emotional starvation of a sexy movie) to think!

Medea asks for our infinite compassion. Honor, pride, family ties, mean nothing to her. She is a demonic woman (in her love as well as in her hate) to her chosen one, Jason. Yet she remains a woman, through and through; the portrayal of the conflict between her hate for Jason and her mother love for her children is one of the greatest emotional purifiers ever put into words.

Who has not seen Medea today? If Mrs. Jones around the corner didn't have to go to the cannery and had time to meditate about love and hate as Medea did, who knows what drama her neighbors would witness one day in her household.

SOPHOMORE HOP LAST EVENT ON SOCIAL SCENE

This year's annual Sophomore Hop will be the last social event of the quarter, according to Chairman Jerry Quadros.

The dance will be held at the Rainbow Ballroom in San Jose with Paul Putnam and his orchestra furnishing the music. Vocal numbers by Jimmy DeBorba and Tommy Pratt will be featured.

"The Rainbow Ballroom has been chosen for the March 12 dance because of its good floor and easy accessibility," says Miss Quadros.

the San Joseans, who took more shots, made 38 per cent of their throws count. Sparta's colorbearers sank 16 of 22 free throws, while the visitors made seven for 16.

AREND'S REPORTS COST TO DATE OF "UP POWELL"

Total cost of Spartan Revelries production, "Up Powell," stands at $3788.72 with several bills yet outstanding, according to Emerson "Doc" Arends, ASB president. When all bills are paid the expense is expected to be considerably increased, he said.

Ticket sales for the six-night run brought in $3374.23 and $83 of refunds brings the credit side of the ledger to $3457.23. To date the production has cut into a $1096.22 working fund, left following last year's production, to the tune of $281.49.

"Underestimates and poor attendance were the two main reasons the production lost money," Joe Juliano, director, claimed yesterday.

The director explained that in his original budget of $1500 he had only estimates for production costs. "Then," he went on, "when the bills came in they were, in most cases, far over the estimates."

STOLEN ITEMS

Juliano recently told the Student Council that such items as the disappearance of a $50 bolt of muslin, which could have been sold to the Speech department, and the loss of $70 worth of tools did not help matters.

In commenting on the situation Arends said, "Some of the reasons they lost money was the lack of written estimates, the lack of adequate supervision of the project and the lack of protection of property."

Juliano pointed to the printer's bill as a sore point on the financial front. The novel cable car program required a special die to cut it out and special ink to print it.

"We estimated the cost of programs around $300. The printer could not give us any actual figure. When the bill came in it was $600," Juliano said.

LOW ATTENDANCE

Another point contributing to financial failure was unexpectedly low attendance. Juliano told the Council that only 189 first nighters saw the production and the second night audience numbered 270.

"Up Powell" drew 3300 people for the six nights. Last year the five-night run drew 3200. "Naturally," Juliano said, "we expected to average 700 persons a night like last year. Instead, our Monday and Tuesday house together wasn't half of the expected one-night attendance."

The working fund for next year's show will be around $800, according to Juliano.

Final cost of the show, and the total loss will not be known until all of the bills are in, the director remarked.
